

My personal strengths

I grew up in the countryside and felt like a lame kid. In 2002 i entered my university , I prepared a talk for a lesson about my strengths. I prepared well. But I can't talk it front of a lot of students. Redened face and there aren't sound. It's very difficult.

But after i talket it, students congratulated for me. It's very happy for me then i think i can do this.

After graduation, for work entry i was writing a job report in every week. Than i talked about it front of all employees. Also there was still a problem.

I decided will change my weakness by strengths.

Than i prepared myself how to solve it. After a long run on my weakness, getting better my writing skil and started talking better slowly people was encouraging.

Suddenly i talked about my department report and writing it. I noticed my weakness is changed my strengths. It's great. This skill was very important my future career. Last 7 years ,

I talked report for many people and board meetings many times. I teached about stock market and international trading for mongolian many people.

And i won second place in writing contest " how to develop my country". I was very inspired by this competition.

I am now in the professional field not only is he able to express myself, but he also enjoys developing myself to the point of reaching the mongolian stock market and financial sector.

In the future as i grow and expand my strengths, i'll always focusing on " What more can i do for my teammetes and our clients ? " .
